

Our doctors are well-qualified to help you make intelligent decisions with regard to refractive surgery. Because we have no financial interest in any surgeon or surgical center, we refer our patients to only the most qualified surgeons. We assist our patients in making educated choices with regard to refractive surgery so that the best possible results can be achieved.

With the introduction of the many new and varied forms of refractive surgery such as LASIK, PRK, IOL implants, multifocal IOL implants, anterior chamber IOL implants, stromal bands, and many others, consumer confusion is common. If you are confused, or just need a little more information before making this very important decision, we would urge you to incorporate the following questions into your decision-making process:

- Which procedure, surgeon, or clinic would best serve my current and future vision needs? Is my current Eye Care Professional knowledgeable about refractive surgery options? Will I need to travel out of town for the surgery and pre- and post-surgical care?
- How can I evaluate price/value? Can I trust my vision to the surgical office offering the cheapest price? How will I know if the surgeon is competent? Will I receive personalized service? Is the clinic's surgical equipment of high quality? Are pre-paid (global) fees important?

- Is a warranty offered by the surgical office? If I need an enhancement later, will I have to pay for it?

We pride ourselves in staying in tune with the latest technological advancements and procedures in refractive eye care. We help you make a well-informed decision on which surgeon and procedure, in any, would be best for you. We act on your behalf as an independent referral source.

If you would like to learn more about your refractive surgical options, please schedule an appointment. We will be more than happy to guide you through this complex and exciting process.
